OTHER REALITY rethinking the district center

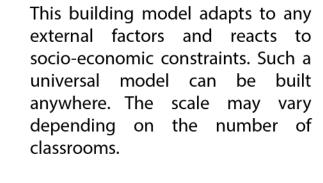

France, Bordeaux, Bacalan

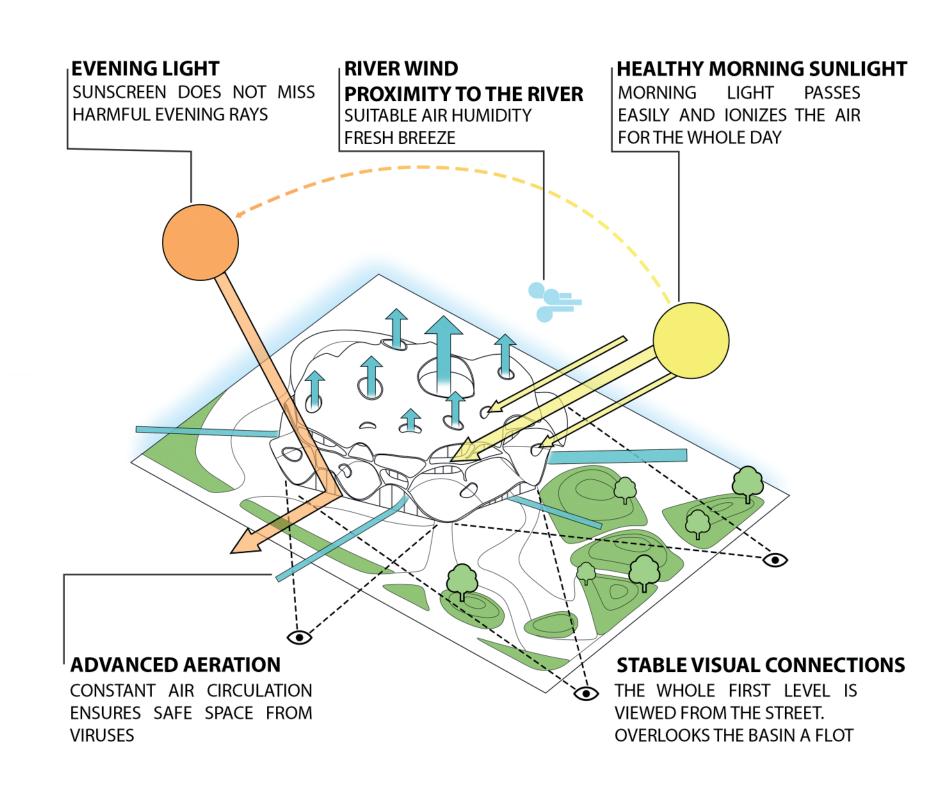

Why this place is relevant At the moment, the renovation of the district is taking external factors and reacts to place. New development. New people. Creative youth.

People after quarantine are tired of sitting at home, universal model can be built limiting themselves in social contacts. During the time of anywhere. The scale may vary restrictions, they were engaged in various things, knew depending on the number of themselves, found new hobbies. A great new place for them is where they can realize their interests.

Structure

For people, such a structure in modern realities is new (emotional experience): no corners interesting space new spatial and visual relationships is safe, because natural light comes in constantly and the air constantly circulates

This structure creates a space that meets all the requirements for its reconstruction in the architecture.

The structure of the club is based on sandstone, which is created in deserts with the constant influence of natural factors on it. The sun drains water bodies, the wind blows onto the sand and creates interesting places in which organisms living in the sand lived.

Social processes
